

Disclosure Act - New Seller Disclosure Requirement

H.3886 also amends the Residential Property Condition Disclosure Act (Disclosure Act) to require sellers of real property not exempted by the Disclosure Act to disclose whether the property is subject to the governance of an HOA. Although this new disclosure requirement itself is minimal, failure to disclose such information can potentially expose a seller of real property to civil liability.